Opening Hong Kong Office

Zurich, May 2008. SCM Strategic Capital Management is pleased to announce the opening of our Hong Kong office following the establishment of SCM Strategic Capital Management Asia Limited earlier this year. Our Hong Kong office comes at a time when SCM increases the scale of its Asian investment strategy, which includes private equity, real estate and infrastructure funds. The Hong Kong office will strengthen our platform and provide our clients with even greater in-depth research coverage in this increasingly important and complex region. It also offers our clients local support in evaluating and selecting premier fund managers in this area. Mark Engler, Vice President in our due diligence team with many years of experience in working with fund managers in the region, will join SCM Asia Ltd. in Hong Kong to spearhead our deal sourcing and due diligence efforts while Mrs. Nana Riedhauser rejoined SCM and was appointed Hong Kong General Office Manager. Mrs. Riedhauser was operations manager in SCM's Zurich office for a number of years prior to relocating to Hong Kong. We are delighted about our management team in Hong Kong which combines a close familiarity with SCM and its processes and local knowledge of the Asian region and will thus be able to provide a seamless service to our existing and new clients as well as expand our Asian investment team.

Furthermore, SCM has established a representative office in London earlier this year that is run by our new partner, Karin Russell-Wiederkehr, Head of Global Markets. Mrs. Russell-Wiederkehr joins us from Credit Suisse where she served as an Executive Director and European Head of Transition Management Sales and Marketing. She will focus on business development and client services globally and lead the continued expansion efforts of our firm's franchise. Mrs. Russell-Wiederkehr brings over 15 years of experience in complex global financial markets transactions and advising pension funds on the implementation of their investment programs and is a tremendous addition to our experienced and cohesive team.
